(f) Hurontario Corridor Higher Order Transit Study

Wendy Alexander, Director, Transportation and Works Department, introduced the above project which will move people more quickly along Mississauga's busiest transit corridor.

Matthew Williams, Project Leader, Transportation and Works Department, provided a brief power point presentation and explained the study and its partners, City of Brampton, Metrolinx and the Province. He explained the public engagement process and advised that the input will be used to review options, land use, urban design and opportunities along the corridor. Further, he stated that they would be following the Environmental Assessment process for this study. Mr. Williams outlined to Council, the plans to obtain public engagement by way of public meetings in Mississauga and Brampton.

Councillor Frank Dale felt that one of the major challenges was to ease traffic particularly in the City Centre where parking is very limited. He felt that this transit system was long overdue and would help reduce some of the congestion and also get more cars off the road. The Councillor felt that there would be further relief around the City core when the Confederation Parkway Bridge over the Hwy. 403 was opened. Further, Councillor Dale spoke about the studies for Burnhamthorpe Road and the East to West Corridors. He pointed out that Hurontario Street was a major transportation corridor and was hopeful that Mississauga would continue to receive funding from both levels of Government for transit projects. Councillor Dale felt that once transit was in place along this major corridor, more Office Commercial in the City Core would be attracted to locate here as planned, resulting in people living and working close to home.

Councillor Nando Iannicca complimented the opportunity that this high order transportation would bring to Cooksville, adding that there were also plans for Dundas Street and looked forward to the rejuvenation of the quadrants at Hurontario Street and Dundas Street.

1. An aggressive financial and implementation plan is required to achieve a sustainable multi-modal regional transportation system.
2. Connectivity between a comprehensive regional transit network and local transit networks is crucial. Regional 'drive' is required to address issues of seamless connectivity across municipal transit systems.
3. Travel by public transit needs to be time-efficient, to encourage ridership.
4. Intensification of development is fundamental to making Transit service viable.
5. Economic impacts of fuel prices and other economic factors (housing market) are catalysts for eventual changes to the existing housing stock as well as what types of vehicles or transportation people can afford. It is expected that high fuel prices will increase the up-take of smaller vehicles and alternative transportation options like transit and cycling.
